CHARLOTTE, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Carvana (NYSE: CVNA), the industry pioneer for buying and selling cars online, today announced plans to bring Inspection and Reconditioning Center (IRC) capabilities to its existing ADESA Charlotte wholesale auction site. Carvana Brings Inspection and Reconditioning Center Capabilities to ADESA Charlotte

"ADESA Charlotte has been an important part of the local community for more than 30 years, and we're excited to build on that foundation by bringing new capabilities and jobs to the site," said Brian Boyd, Senior Vice President of Inventory at Carvana. "This integration will strengthen our national network while improving selection and delivery speed for North Carolina customers, strengthening our offering for our wholesale customers, and creating new opportunities for our growing Charlotte team."

Carvana has already begun hiring local team members to support this move and expects the integration to create about 100 new good-paying, skilled and entry-level jobs in inspection, reconditioning, and vehicle fulfillment over time. These roles require no college degree and come with comprehensive benefits. Candidates can browse open positions and apply here.

"Carvana's continued investment in its Mecklenburg County-area operations is creating meaningful opportunities for our neighbors, including good-paying jobs with pathways for people to excel at a range of experience levels," said State Representative Terry Brown. "This growth is a welcome addition to our region, proves that Steele Creek continues to be an economic driver, and builds on the company's long-standing presence in the local community."

ADESA Charlotte has served wholesale auto auction customers for over 30 years. Now the facility will also house the teams and tools that drive Carvana retail reconditioning and fulfillment. The approximately 50-acre site includes nearly 4,000 parking spaces and offers significant infrastructure to support IRC operations alongside ongoing wholesale auction activities.

The integration will establish a new pool of local retail inventory, giving customers access to a broader selection of vehicles with delivery options for nearby customers as soon as the same day. Wholesale buyers will benefit from enhanced on-site inspection and reconditioning capabilities, as well as ongoing access to ADESA's in-lane and digital auction services.

Carvana's proprietary software platform, CARLI, will power the site's transition to an IRC-enabled facility, supporting operational efficiency and consistency across its national reconditioning network.
