With this launch, local customers interested in selling their vehicles to Carvana can also schedule pickup and drop-off as soon as the same day they complete Carvana's online vehicle appraisal process.

"When my old car's engine gave out, I needed something fast. I didn't expect to be able to get a car this quickly — that really surprised me," said Victor X., a Midwest customer. "The whole process was so easy online, signing the documents and uploading my insurance took no time at all. Everything went smoothly and the car showed up in great shape."
